Tickets for the 2019 Grand Finals go on sale June 7th, for more information visit overwatchleague.com.

The Wells Fargo Center, one of the busiest arenas in the world hosting more than 250 events each year, is home to the NHL's Philadelphia Flyers, NBA's Philadelphia 76ers, NLL's Philadelphia Wings, and the Arena Football League's Philadelphia Soul. With more than 2.6 million fans walking through its doors each year, the Wells Fargo Center has hosted a long list of nationally-recognized events, including the Republican National Convention (2000), NBA All-Star Weekend (2002), ESPN X Games (2001 and 2002), Stanley Cup Finals (1997 and 2010), NHL Entry Draft (2014), NCAA Men's Frozen Four (2014), and the Democratic National Convention (2016).

"Last year we witnessed thousands of passionate Overwatch® fans at the Grand Finals and we can't wait to bring this electric event to Philadelphia's Wells Fargo Center," said Dave Scott, Chairman and CEO, Comcast Spectacor. "Overwatch League fans will be some of the first guests to enjoy the arena's new advancements and we look forward to hosting an international audience for premier programming. We are thrilled to bring world-class gaming to Philadelphia's expanding technology, esports, and entertainment scene."

The arena is currently in the midst of a multi-year, $250-million renovation initiative—Transformation 2020—which is aimed at reinventing every aspect of the fan experience within the venue. The Overwatch League Grand Finals will be the first major event hosted at the facility following a summer of major upgrades and advancements, including an overhaul of the main concourse, brand-new lower bowl seating, and the installation of the world's first kinetic 4K center-hung entertainment system.

The Grand Finals represents the culmination of the 2019 Overwatch League season playoffs, which will feature 12 of the League's 20 teams. For the postseason, the two division winners along with the next best four teams by record, regardless of division, will automatically qualify. Two additional teams will qualify through a play-in tournament between the seventh- through 12th-place teams. Those eight teams will compete in a double-elimination bracket. The final two teams that advance out of the bracket will compete in the Grand Finals.

Additional Grand Finals event details—including ticket pre-sale availability and match times—will be announced at a later date. Visit www.overwatchleague.com/email to receive the latest Grand Finals news and ticketing updates.

About the Overwatch League™

"Philadelphia is a legendary sports town with amazing fans and the Wells Fargo Center is the perfect venue to crown our next champion," said Nate Nanzer, Overwatch League Commissioner. "The 2018 Grand Finals in Brooklyn was epic but we're looking to up the ante for our season finale in Philly. We have 20 teams in the League now, so the path to the championship is going to be extremely competitive and very entertaining."

The 2019 Grand Finals will be livestreamed on Twitch in 190 countries, and broadcast in the U.S. on ABC from 3:00 – 6:00 p.m. EDT on September 29. It will also be available on the ESPN app, overwatchleague.com, and the Overwatch League app. Additionally, the Grand Finals will air in the following countries via additional platforms: Canada (TSN), China (Zhanqi, NetEase CC, Bilibili and Huya) France (Mediawan), Germany (Sport1), and Russia (E Terra TV).
