Everyone,

Yesterday, you heard the exciting news that Microsoft will acquire Activision Blizzard. As Bobby shared, this is an opportunity for our company's future and the future of gaming.

This is a testament to all of you and the incredible work you do day-to-day. Our passion, creativity, franchises and dedicated player communities is what makes us attractive to so many great companies, including why Microsoft wants us to become a part of their family.

Together, with Microsoft, we will take our experiences and content to new levels and create ways for us all to grow - individually and as a team - while we continue the important cultural work that is needed. Microsoft CEO Satya Nadella reiterated this commitment in the investor call yesterday.

We know you have a lot of questions and as you can imagine, transactions like this are complicated and evolving. We will provide updates to you over the coming weeks and months, as we know more.

Nothing changes for us immediately, as we expect this deal to close in Microsoft's fiscal year ending June 2023. In the meantime, we will continue to be an independent company and we will run ourselves that way - with our relentless focus on taking care of each other and serving our players with incredible content.

Looking forward to this next chapter.

Thanks,
